

Language Identification Organizer

Listen closely and check off each sentence or partial sentence as you hear it.

- Let's start with the happiest day: January 8th, 1835.
- American accomplishment, that we had actually paid off
- panic and headed into a massive depression
- have left the economy on a very agricultural-subsistence basis
- was really about was how quickly to pay off the debt
- had been quite a land speculator, until a deal gone bad
- the U.S. had a lot of land in the wilderness
- Jackson had already killed off the National Bank, something he hated
- a huge crash and the beginning of the longest depression
- and Andrew Jackson just wasn't savvy enough